

DISCOVER

Free Books & More for People with Print Disabilities!

The New York Public Library provides two main services for eligible patrons of all ages who are blind, visually impaired, physically disabled, or who have a reading disability:

Andrew Heiskell Braille and Talking Book Library
40 West 20th Street
Manhattan

New York
Public Library

nypl.org/printdisabilities
212-206-5400

The New York Public Library

Accessible Books & More for People with Print Disabilities

NEW! BOOKSHARE

Get instant access to thousands of accessible e-books—now FREE for eligible Library users!

- Over 350,000 e-books that can be read aloud on your device while text highlights or on the library's digital players
- Scanning on demand for students
- Electronic braille also available

ANDREW HEISKELL BRAILLE & TALKING BOOK LIBRARY

NYPL's Andrew Heiskell Library provides talking books and braille to residents of New York City and Long Island, with no late fees and no limit on items.

- Audiobooks and audio magazines by mail
- Audio players with adjustable speed, tone, volume, and navigation
- Instantly downloadable titles to keep, from our website or app
- Programs, workshops, and assistive technology coaching for all ages
- Braille and digital braille books and magazines, braille embossers, and braille study groups

For more information or to apply, visit nypl.org/printdisabilities, call 212-206-5400, or e-mail talkingbooks@nypl.org.